

HPCS 2014 Student Volunteer Application

The International Conference on High Performance Computing & Simulation (HPCS 2014) (<http://hpcs2014.cisedu.info/>) is the premier, international arena where researchers, systems engineers, academics, practitioners and many more come together to debate and shape the future of high performance computing systems and simulation design and practice. At HPCS 2014 we will turn our focus to what happens when our HPC systems are used "in the wild".

We are looking for a small number of student volunteers to assist with the smooth running of HPCS this year. To be a student volunteer you must be a student at the time of the conference. We are more than happy to accept undergraduate, Masters, and PhD students. We need friendly enthusiastic volunteers to help us out. To thank you for your help, as a student volunteer you would receive free registration for the conference (including workshops).

Volunteers assist with registration, monitor sessions (handout materials, count the number of attendees in each session, assist presenters with AV needs), collect presentations, assist socials, registration and local arrangements chairs, update session signs and provide directions to participants, etc. Student volunteers must attend one of the orientation sessions either Saturday, July 19th at 6:00 pm or Sunday, July 20th at 3:00 pm held at the Savoia Hotel to receive their assignments. Volunteers are expected to contribute a minimum of 15 hours of time during the conference. Students who wish to attend specific sessions can schedule their volunteer time so it does not conflict with those presentations.

If you are interested in being a student volunteer at HPCS 2014, please fill out the application form below. The deadline for applications is May 08, 2014 (23:59 EST) and applicants will be notified of our decision by May 30, 2014 (23:59 EST).

We look forward to hearing from you.
